New NAECA III Compliant, Residential Gas Product

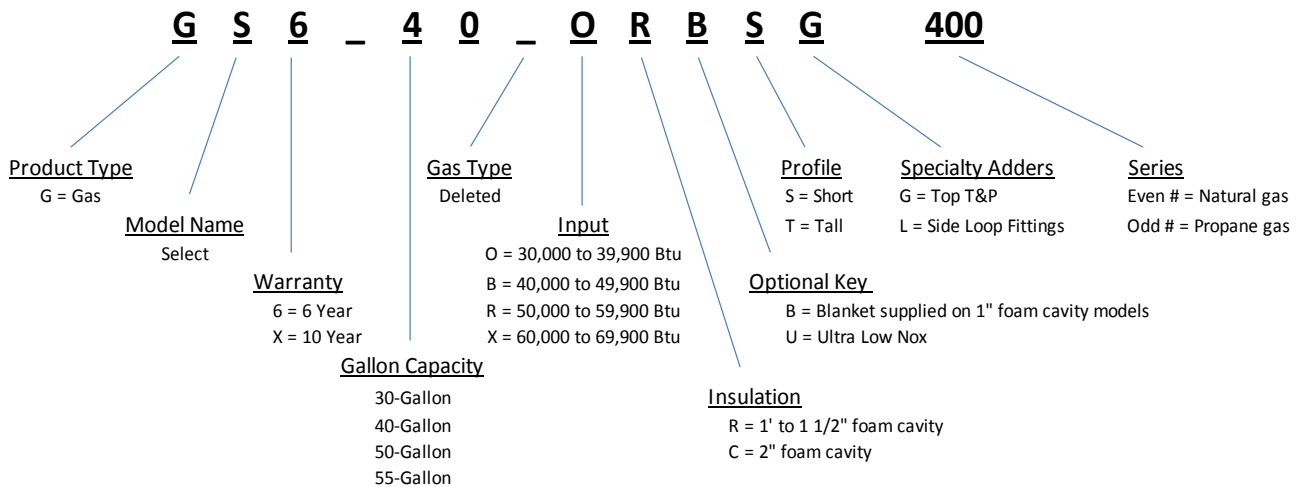

State has launched a new portfolio of gas residential water heaters to meet the requirements for the new 2015 NAECA minimum efficiency regulations. One thing that will be obvious is the model numbers for the NAECA III products (at the minimum efficiency level) have changed. Again, this model number change is only on the models at the minimum efficiency levels. Current models with energy efficiency levels well above NAECA minimums will not see the model number changes (example: Energy Star qualified models, Power Vent & Power Direct Vent).

Please see the “Model Nomenclature Key” below to help understand what the different letters represent in the new model numbers. One change to note is the gas type letter has been dropped from the new model number scheme, and the product series will need to be included to identify what type of gas is required.

The new NAECA III atmospheric vent (Standard, ULN & Mobile Home) products will use a series of 400 or 401 for these new models. The 400 series is used for natural gas sku’s and 401 series is used for propane gas sku’s.

Example:
GS6 40 BCT 400 natural gas model.
GS6 40 BCT 401 propane gas model.

The only other gas model number changes you will notice are on the mobile home products. See the example below for these products.

Atmospheric Vent Mobile Home = GS6 40 MHG 400

Direct Vent Mobile Home = GS6 40 MDV 400

Remember these mobile home models ship from the factory set-up for natural gas and are field convertible to propane gas.
