

Von Morris Now Official Provider of AIA/CES Classes

Exciting news: Von Morris has been approved by the American Institute of Architects (AIA) as an official provider of continuing education classes. All Von Morris Reps across the country will be able to conduct Lunch & Learns or Wine & Cheese events at local retailers or architectural firms.

Our first continuing education course, entitled, "Cylindrical and Mortise Locks", provides an overview of the history and characteristics of these lock types, and applications for each lock body. The course also explains how manufacturers offer suited lines that are available in various finishes while accommodating multiple lock-body types, so that designers can specify a particular look throughout an entire project, regardless of the locking hardware required.

The continuing education program will allow local architects and designers to learn more about Von Morris products and services and earn valuable CEU credits, while familiarizing them with your showroom and hardware expertise.

The course is one hour in length. Von Morris will handle the administrative paperwork required by the AIA, and provide the certificates of completion.

Please consult your local Von Morris Rep for more information, dates and availability. Von Morris must be notified before the class is offered. All AIA guidelines are strictly enforced!

For more information on the AIA guidelines, please consult Phil Avila or Edward ODonnell at 800-646-6888.

Von Morris Goes Greener!

Did you know that all Von Morris products are made from recycled brass? And Von Morris uses recycled cardboard in shipping boxes? In October, Von Morris took another step toward becoming even more environmentally friendly with the introduction of PaperNuts®.

PaperNuts® are a new loose fill that will replace the white Styrofoam peanuts that can make opening a package really annoying.

The new PaperNuts packing nuts are made from 100% recycled materials that are both biodegradable and fully recyclable. The paper packing nuts are clean, safe, non-polluting, non-static, and more environmentally friendly.

Now you can open Von Morris packages without the static mess of Styrofoam peanuts. Additionally, the PaperNuts® can easily be discarded in your recycling bin.

For more information please visit us online at vonmorris.com or call 800 646 6888